Saint Andrew's Conservatory of Music

Vacancy Announcement: Cellist

Saint Andrew's Chapel with Saint Andrew's Conservatory are announcing an opening for cellist in Saint Andrew's Sinfonia, the chamber ensemble of 9-15 players at 2 weekly worship services. The position is open beginning July 1. Qualified players will hold at least a Bachelor's of Music with a major in cello or its equivalent, be skilled at the level of a player in the Orlando Philharmonic and other regional orchestras, and compatible in a weekly service environment. The church is non-denominational, in the Reformed tradition, with its Senior Minister R C Sproul and Co-Minister Burk Parsons sharing weekly preaching duties.

Beyond the weekly performance in Saint Andrew's Sinfonia, there is the possible addition of teaching responsibilities at Saint Andrew's Conservatory of Music. Qualified applicants will be Christians who have a minimum Bachelor of Music and evidence of successful teaching at two levels: children and adults in either beginning or intermediate to advanced playing. In addition, applicants with a Master of Music or its equivalent are eligible for Reformation Bible College's BA in Theology: Sacred Music. The College is seeking an adjunct professor of cello with possible classes in Collegium (chamber ensemble), music theory, music history, and aural skills beginning August 14 for Fall semester 2017.

To apply, send resume, letters of support, names of 3 references and recordings of your performance. For more information about the church, the conservatory, or the college, go to the websites below.
