

SAINT ANDREW'S

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

For Immediate Release:

On Sunday, October 7, at 5:00 PM, Saint Andrew's Chapel and Conservatory present a recital of French and German organ music performed by Josiah Armes, Associate Organist at Saint Andrew's Chapel. The program will feature music of Mendelssohn, Widor, Bach, Wammes, and Durufle on the 67-rank Swartz organ installed in 2010.

Josiah Armes received his Bachelor of Music degree from Stetson University, Master of Music degree from Yale University, and also completed a year of post-graduate studies at the Eastman School of Music. His teachers include Dr. Boyd Jones, Thomas Murray, David Higgs, and William Porter. He formerly served as organist and assistant director of music at First Presbyterian Church, Orlando, and was appointed Associate Organist at Saint Andrew's Chapel in September 2017.
